COLD WAVE HANGING ON; BREAK NEAR

Flood Victims Suffer in Indiana and Lower Illinois

BULLETIN
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Distress of one thousand families driven from their homes by the flooding of the Wabash and Little Wabash rivers, today impelled Governor Louis L. Emmerson to appeal to the public of Illinois to respond to the Red Cross relief program, by immediate contributions.

At the same time he forwarded a telegram from Representative F. W. Lewis of Robinson, to the War Department, seconding a request for immediate aid in blasting the ice barriers in the Wabash river which are holding flood waters on thousands of acres of wheat land.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The cold wave hangs on.

The Rocky Mountain states and the southwest after a fortnight of it, have become resigned to sub-zero weather. In the middle west the cold wave has been unbroken for a week. Even Dixie shivers, and the east was threatened today.

A 70 at Los Angeles, an 80 at Miami, a 78 at Tampa and 66 at San Diego provided about all the warm reading the temperature chart had to offer yesterday. The Pacific Coast states for the most part had temperatures in the minus six at Spokane and the minus 10 at Walla Walla, Wash., being the only sub-zero recorded there.

Alaska, strangely, basked in what is regarded as mild weather, with the temperature in some places just under 30 above.

Some Exceptions. In Fort Smith, Ark., the reading of 10 below was 34 degrees below what the Weather Bureau regards as the seasonal normal.

Only one city in the group classified as "west central states" failed to report a below zero reading yesterday. That was Little Rock, Ark., and the drop there was to two above.

Temperatures in the Dakotas were as low as 30 below, though the average in the middle west was 20 degrees higher.

The Mountain states, which have been "having a spell of weather" for two weeks, continued cold, with the mercury around 26 below in Wyoming. Readings in Canada were much more temperate, with Calgary and Edmonton being on the plus side of the cipher.

Flood Sufferers.
The banks of the Wabash in Indiana and Illinois were scenes of suffering, with some relief for marooned families being afforded by airplanes and rescuers in boats. The severe cold, extending even to the southern reaches of the flood area, was proving an aid to rescue workers, some of whom were successful in getting through on sleds, but at the same time the cold added to the misery of those stranded by the flood waters.

A report from Mt. Carmel on the Illinois side of the Wabash, said many persons in the bottom lands had scarcely enough food to last a week, and in some cases the food supply already was exhausted. A slight recession of the flood waters was reported there.

In Chicago highways were open, but they were icy, and the boulevards were black lines between high walls of snow.

Greyhound Drivers Walked Out Today
Cleveland, O., Jan. 23.—(UP)—Two hundred Greyhound Line bus drivers, operating busses from Chicago to points east, went on a strike today for a conference had failed to iron out wage disagreements.

Drivers in all large eastern cities as well as Chicago and other mid-western cities will take part in the strike.

Officials of the bus line declared that they did not believe the walk-out would seriously hamper transportation over their lines because they have plenty of reserve drivers.

Former Director Of Parks Is Dead

STEPHEN TYNG MATHER

Creator of office of Director of National Parks, as which he served under three Presidents, doing much to rehabilitate and develop the nation's resorts, who died at his home in Brookline, Mass., late yesterday.

FILIPINOS ARE OBJECTS OF MOB FURY IN CALIF.

Watsonville Whites
Resent American
Girls Dancing
Watsonville, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A score of Filipinos were being guarded from possible violence in the city hall here today after a disturbance in which a mob of approximately 600 whites, armed with clubs, whips and firearms, wrecked the interiors of several Filipino residences and severely beat their occupants.

All available police, sheriff's deputies, state traffic officers and city firemen were called out to disperse the mob and rescue its victims. To prevent a renewal of hostilities, Sheriff Carl Abbott and his men remained here throughout the night.

Bitter feeling, which had its inception in labor problems, flamed into action at the use of white girls as dancing partners at a Filipino social club at Palm Beach, across the Pajaro river from here. Knots of white men gathered at street corners and joined in the march on the Filipino residences in South Watsonville. Bunches were fired through windows, accompanied by a hail of bricks, and the infuriated whites surged into the houses, dragging out the occupants.

At least twelve Filipinos were badly beaten and flogged by the mob while others fled to rooftops and cellars in terror.

Fire In Tower Of London Exciting
London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Outbreak of fire in the famous Tower of London early this morning excited considerable alarm and drew a big force of firemen and engines. However the garrison quenched the flames before their arrival.

Officials said the fire appeared in the outlying part of the tower and that neither the crown jewels nor other valuable collections were endangered.

Former Dixonite
Died In Sterling
Michael O'Neil of Sterling, aged 53 years, a former Dixon resident, died at his home, 610 Third street, this morning at 1:15 o'clock. The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 8:30 from the house and at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's Catholic church, Sterling. The body will then be brought to Dixon for interment in Oakwood. Mr. O'Neil had been suffering with double pneumonia.

HENRY HIGGINS DIED LAST EVE AT CENTRALIA

Former Dixon Utilities
Head Victim Of Pneumonia: Aged 83

Centralia, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Henry C. Higgins, builder and operator of public utility plants in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Alabama, died at his home here last night following a short illness. He was 83 years old.

Death was caused by pneumonia which developed after Mr. Higgins had injured himself in a fall at his home last Sunday night.

Mr. Higgins' first venture into the public utility field was in 1868 when at the age of 21 he contracted the building of part of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, then extending its lines to the west.

After completing this work, he entered the gas, electric light and street railway business in various cities in the middle west, beginning in 1876 and extending over a period of many years. He, either with his brother Thomas or by himself, built and operated gas, electric and street railway plants at Marinette, Stevens Point, Ashland, Neshanic, Manitowish, Escanaba and other Wisconsin cities as well as Waterloo, Iowa, Sterling, Dixon and Centralia, Illinois and Gadsden, Alabama. He was a director in a number of the banks in the cities in which he was interested.

Leaving Wisconsin in 1901 Mr. Higgins went to Dixon, Ill., where he constructed an interurban line to Sterling, Ill.

He lived in Dixon until 1907 at which time he came to Centralia to make his home and where he has lived since. He purchased the Centralia Gas & Electric Company about 1908 and acted as president of that organization until his retirement in 1923.

Mr. Higgins was born in Rosconan County, Ireland. His widow and a son and three daughters survive.

WOMAN CLAIMS ESTATE SLAIN GAMBLER TODAY

Says Slain Gambler
Proposed To Her
Many Times

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Testimony that Arnold Rothstein proposed to her once a week, perhaps three dozen times in all, has been given by Inez Norton, former show girl, who is seeking to collect a $20,000 insurance policy on the slain man's life.

The policy originally had been made out to "the estate of Arnold Rothstein," but later the name of "Inez Norton" as beneficiary was written in instead. The insurance company said it never received any notice of a change in beneficiary and paid the money to the court.

Miss Norton testified that two months after meeting Rothstein in 1928, or about five months before the gambler was slain, he turned the policy over to her. She said their relations had been platonic but that they planned to obtain divorces and marry.

Until a month before she met Rothstein she said she lived with her husband, Miles Rieker, with whom she has a ten-year-old son.

Questioned on the number of times Rothstein proposed marriage, she said, "I don't know." "A dozen times in all?" she was asked. "Yes."

"Three dozen?" "Perhaps."

Race Horses Died In Burning Barns

New Orleans, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Fifteen race horses were burned to death and three men were seriously injured in an early morning fire that destroyed two barns at the fair ground race track here.

The fire, starting from a defective oil heater in the men's quarters, was caught up by a high wind and quickly enveloped the long frame barn housing about thirty horses.

Wilfred May, apprentice jockey, J. W. Smith and Phil Chatham, stable men, were trapped in the barn and outsiders saved them by bursting in a door. The men were blinded by the smoke and were staggering about the flaming building helpless. They were sent to the hospital.

Thirteen horses were burned to death in their stalls in one barn. All of the animals were taken out of another before it caught but two horses ran back into the flames and died.

FORMER CHIEF OF PARKS DIED LATE YESTERDAY

Stephen T. Mather of Massachusetts Served Faithfully

Brookline, Mass., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Stephen Tyng Mather, who was Director of National Parks in the Department of the Interior under three Presidents, died here yesterday. He was 62 years old.

His widow and a daughter survive.

Unobtrusive as was the work of Stephen Tyng Mather, few men have left their impress on national life as indelibly as he did through his service as director of national parks.

He virtually created the job for himself and served under three presidents, being obliged because of ill-health to resign in 1928.

When Mr. Mather took over the task of running the national playgrounds under Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, the parks were not in a very prosperous condition. Congress had bought or set aside land for them, but their development stopped there. Nothing had been done to make them popular or accessible and they were operated as separate units.

Rehabilitation and development of the national parks became a pet project with Mr. Mather. To tackle the task he was well equipped by his early business experiences and an inherent love of nature.

He was industrious for he had worked his way through college by selling books. He knew publicity and the value of it through several years as a member of the staff of the New York Sun. He had taught the conservative bauxite industry, in which he engaged, how to advertise and in that he had accumulated a comfortable fortune, a large portion of which he expended in the refinement of his public task.

Pleasing Personality
Mr. Mather's pleasing personality which proved an asset when he went before Congress for appropriations for his pet project, completed the qualifications for the job in which he was so intensely interested. When he resigned his post he enjoyed a large measure of satisfaction from the fact that western railroads were running special trains and the highways were cluttered with automobile tourists bound for the parks made popular through his efforts.

Born in San Francisco, July 4, 1867, Mr. Mather was the son of Joseph W. and Bertha Walker Mather. He was educated in the public schools of the coast city and the University of California, being graduated at the latter in 1887. For six years thereafter he was a member of the Sun staff in New York and then went to Chicago, where he engaged in the manufacture of chemicals and boxes.

On October 12, 1903, Mr. Mather married Miss Jane T. Floy of Elizabeth, New Jersey.

During his official life, nearly all of which was spent in Washington, he maintained his residence in Chicago. In the latter city he had extensive real estate holdings and many years ago achieved the reputation among his tenants as the "perfect landlord."

1100 Passengers
Saved From Ship
Buenos Aires, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Eleven hundred tourists from Buenos Aires were safe today aboard the Argentine war transport Vicente Fidel Lopez off the bleak shores of Tierra Del Fuego (Land of Fire) after the grounding of their ship, the Monte Cervantes, on a rock in the Straits of Magellan.

The Monte Cervantes has a German tramp designation and is owned by the Hamburg-South American Line.

Only the officers remained aboard. Available records listed the ship as of an excess of 7,000 tons displacement. It recently arrived at Buenos Aires from Hamburg.

Insane Man Fought Battle With Police
Chicago, Jan. 23.—(UP)—With a pistol and a handful of cartridges, Pacifico Ciarmoneetti fought 30 police and tear bombs for an hour last night in a north side rooming house before he was killed.

Ciarmoneetti stood at bay after his landlady, Mrs. Louise Rigbert, had summoned aid when she saw him in his room with a revolver.

As the police approached Ciarmoneetti closed the door and fired through it while the police attempted to use tear gas to drive him out. When the gas did not affect him, Sergeant Eugene McNally opened the door and pumped five bullets into Ciarmoneetti before the latter could discharge his revolver.

ASK GOVERNOR TO AID CHICAGO PAY SALARIES

Total Debt Of Eleven
Millions By End Of The Month

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Governor Emmerson was expected to lend a hand today in the solution of Cook county's financial plight.

Civic leaders, city and county officials and school board heads planned to confer with the Governor today to press for aid, possibly through legislative action, in meeting their governmental bills. The school board has already requested a special legislative session.

The school board yesterday passed its $101,000,000 budget for 1930 but H. Wallace Caldwell, president, said no money can be raised by sale of tax anticipation warrants before Feb. 7.

"This means," he said, "that 13,200 teachers, 2900 engineers and janitors and several thousand other employees of the schools will not receive any money until after that date. We may even have trouble in paying them then."

The idea of paying employees in scrip has been abandoned.

At the end of this month the city, county and school board will owe 40,182 employees $11,276,157.

NEW EVIDENCE IN WAR CLAIMS NOW PRESENTED

Rehearing Of Claims Is Granted: Amount To $35,000,000

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Spectacular new evidence offered by representatives of the German government has brought about a rehearing on American war claims totaling about $35,000,000, based upon wartime disasters allegedly accomplished by agents of Imperial Germany.

The evidence was furnished by Theodore Wozniak, who had been a German agent, said to have sought in vain for more than 10 years after the disasters, and who then, the German evidence declares, voluntarily appeared here and gave the German officials the new testimony.

Wozniak is still beyond the reach of American investigators, and this circumstance, it was learned today, will figure in additional evidence which United States officials will offer before the case is reopened.

Roland W. Boyden, War Claims Arbitrator, has given representative of both governments until February 1 to submit new material for oral argument that will begin early in April.

It was about four months after the hearing last April that German officials announced Wozniak's appearance in the building in which the commission sits—and asked permission to include his story in the record.

Say He Started Fire.
His story, as told in voluminous exhibits admitted over the objection of American officials, is that he worked in the Kingsland, New Jersey, munitions plant of the Canadian Car & Foundry Co., where a tremendous store of ammunition was destroyed by a fire in 1917. He told the German agent here in fact that the fire started at his own work bench. German evidence relates; but he denied categorically that he ever had any connection with the German government.

Originally valued at $20,000,000, but almost doubled by interest accumulated during lengthy litigation, the claims cover also an explosion and fire at the Black Tom terminal of the Lehigh Valley Railway. They are known as the sabotage claims, and are the only ones reflecting American contentions that Imperial Germany launched a program of systematic destruction of property in America during American neutrality.

Since the new evidence was submitted, American officials have gathered a mass of rebuttal evidence. Two other alleged German agents were implicated directly in the Americans' support of the claims; Lothar Witzke and Kurt Jahnecke, who, they assert, planned both the Black Tom and the Kingsland fire. The German evidence contained exhibits purporting to show that neither could have participated in the Black Tom disaster as Americans assert.

PUBLIC BARRED FROM SESSIONS OF NAVY PARLEY

Short Meeting Today Adjourned After Brief Speeches

BY BYRON PRICE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Meeting in a friendly and helpful atmosphere the delegates to the five naval conference outlined their national viewpoints briefly at the first working session today and then resumed their private conversations seeking solutions of the various outstanding problems before them.

France and Italy shared the spotlights at today's session which was held in the Queen Anne's drawing room of St. James's Palace with the public excluded.

The conferees exchanged national viewpoints with the unsettled details of Anglo-American parity and many other vital topics thrust into the background while France outlined again her claim to a greater place in the naval world and Italy repeated her aspirations for parity with her French neighbor.

All Spoke Briefly
The representatives of all the participating governments, including the British Dominions, spoke briefly.

Henry L. Stimson, the American Secretary of States, said that he would not expand at the present time upon American naval needs as it was well understood that the United States was looking to the conference for as much actual reduction as possible. The Secretary said:

"After careful consideration and consultation with my colleagues I have decided not to make any statement today as to the naval requirements of America. I do not think that to do so would particularly assist our deliberations. These requirements are well understood. They have been cheerfully recognized by the nation is our host, which, has through its Prime Minister, agreed with us that equality in naval power between us is the basis upon which we can best promote the beneficent purposes of this conference."

"We also believe that the requirements for national defense on the part of the various nations of the world are necessarily largely relative on the general condition of the world and therefore if this conference can find a way by which general reduction can be secured, our own navy can likewise be reduced."

"While this is our attitude, we shall gladly listen to any statements which may be made by others as we are anxious fully and cordially to understand the difficulties and problems which may confront our sister nations, and for ourselves I shall not make any statement."

MacDonald Chairman
Prime Minister MacDonald, who acted as chairman, opened with a short, general statement and said afterward that the whole proceeding was most friendly. The session also completed its permanent organization and chose Sir Maurice Hankey as Secretary-General. The session lasted but two hours.

"The meeting was most interesting, most informing and most friendly," said Prime Minister MacDonald later. "There was evident no hostile desire whatever on the part of the delegates to question one another."

The delegates went immediately from the Palace to resumption of their many-sided conversations, one meeting late this afternoon between the most interesting of which was a the British, French and Italians. No date was set for the next full session but apparently none was planned this week.

Interest centered around the French and Italian addresses because of the emphasis placed on their viewpoints in the criss-cross of personal conferences recently. Premier Tardieu's address repeated several points made in the French memorandum of last December but in what was felt to be a hopeful and conciliatory spirit. He repeated France's need for a navy in view of her colonial expansion and touched by inference on the long held French desire for some international accord for security.

Reorganization Of
Reorganization of the Lee County Chapter of the American Red Cross was effected at a meeting of its members held at the Chamber of Commerce office last evening and new officers were elected as follows:

Chairman—E. B. Raymond.
Vice Chairman—Everett Dutcher.
Secretary—Miss Frances Patrick.
Home Service Secretary—Albert Ruggles.
Treasurer—John L. Davies.

Alleged Embezzler Arrested In London
Chicago, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Herald and Examiner said today that Louis I. Gottlieb, real estate mortgage broker missing since creditors accused him of embezzling $500,000, had been arrested in London.

News of Gottlieb's arrest was received in a cable to officials of a fraternal organization of which Gottlieb is a member. Robert C. Hardy, an attorney of the fraternal order, said the broker had requested a loan of $300. The newspaper said it learned that Gottlieb had been willing to surrender and return to Chicago.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

COMMISSIONER HERE
Commissioner R. W. Pence of the Illinois Industrial Commission of Chicago was conducting investigations today in the county court room, two cases being heard before the commission from Dixon.

A NIGHT WITH BURNS
The annual "Nicht Wi Burns" will be the feature at the Baptist church this evening, commencing at 7:30, and an interesting program is assured.

CONGRATULATE KWKH
One hundred and thirty Dixon business men have wired their congratulations to W. K. Henderson of radio station, KWKH at Shreveport, La. It was announced this morning and Friday evening, their message will be broadcast from that station some time after 9 o'clock. Many radio parties are being organized to listen to the message from the Dixon business men.

TO MEET ROCKFORD TEAM
The Reynolds Wire Company basketball team will meet the American Insurance Company five of Rockford at the Moose hall Friday evening of this week. Two games are scheduled for the local fans, both of which should provide plenty of interest. The Rockford team will clash with the Wiremakers in the first game and this will be followed by the appearance of the Reynolds seconds against the Dixon Merchants five. The first game will start promptly at 7:30.

HELD SAFETY MEETING
Employees of the Medusa Cement Company attended an interesting safety meeting which was held at the Moose hall last evening. A. B. Whitcombe delivered an interesting talk on safety and short talks were given by Superintendent W. E. Mooney, C. B. Fowler and Philip Mooney. The meeting of the cement company employees was held for the purpose of stressing safety measures during the coming year, the Dixon plant having entered in a safety campaign with several others for a coveted trophy.

LEFT HOSPITAL
R. J. Slothower, veteran tinner and hardware dealer, was released from the Dixon public hospital yesterday afternoon and removed to the home of his son, Elwin Slothower, 302 Steele avenue. Mr. Slothower was struck by an automobile about two weeks ago and sustained injuries which necessitated his being removed to the hospital. He still complains of some pain in his back, but appears to be recuperating quite rapidly, much to the satisfaction of his host of acquaintances.

TROOP 89 MEETS
The members of Boy Scout troop No. 89 of the Christian church are endeavoring to make their troop the crack organization of the city. Eighteen were present at their meeting last evening. They have been working hard on their tenderfoot requirements and it is hoped the majority of them will receive their badges at the Court of Honor next Tuesday evening. Scoutmaster Emmert has taken full charge of the troop, assisted by William Rhodes.

INQUEST TOMORROW
Coroner Frank M. Benker of Franklin Grove planned to empanel a jury this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Staples mortuary to view the remains of Mel Edwards of Freeport, Illinois. Central engineer, who was almost decapitated in the head on collision south of Woosung this morning. The inquest was scheduled to open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and will in all probability be held at the court house. Members of both train crews and railroad officials will be summoned to testify before the coroner's investigation. The body of Engineer Edwards was to be taken to his home in Freeport this evening.

Reorganization of the Lee County Chapter of the American Red Cross was effected at a meeting of its members held at the Chamber of Commerce office last evening and new officers were elected as follows:

Chairman—E. B. Raymond.
Vice Chairman—Everett Dutcher.
Secretary—Miss Frances Patrick.
Home Service Secretary—Albert Ruggles.
Treasurer—John L. Davies.

PASSENGER TRAIN AND FREIGHT MET

Confusion of Orders is Said to Have Been
Cause of Wreck

A head on collision between south-bound Illinois Central passenger train No. 129 leaving Freeport at 7 o'clock and due to arrive at Dixon at 8 o'clock, and a north bound freight train pulled by engine 2901, about 7:55 this morning at a point three-quarters of a mile south of the Woosung depot resulted in the instant death of Engineer Mel Edwards of Freeport, who remained at his post in the cab of the passenger engine. The two locomotives were completely telescoped, the passenger engine tearing away the front of the much heavier freight locomotive.

The crash as the two heavy trains collided could be heard for miles and a call was immediately sent out to Dixon and Polo for physicians. Just what speed was being made by the passenger train was not to be learned, but members of the freight crew stated that they were about fifteen car lengths from the south switch of the Woosung passing track, where they were to have taken siding to permit the passenger train to pass, and were making about ten miles per hour.

Killed Instantly
Engineer Edwards was killed almost instantly at his post in the passenger engine. The tender was ripped open like an egg shell and was thrown from the track a twisted mass of steel and splintered timbers.

Conductor Michael Curran of Freeport was passing through the day coach, a combination passenger and smoker, when the crash came and was thrown violently forward, striking his head against the steel seats. He was rendered unconscious and was cut badly about the face and head. Passengers were thrown over seats and into aisles when the two trains met. Fortunately none suffered broken bones and aside from cuts and bruises, the passengers miraculously escaped being killed or severely injured. This was attributed to the steel construction of the three coaches which composed the passenger train.

Orders Confused
Confusion of orders was alleged to have been attributable to the collision. Members of the freight crew stated that their train was proceeding at a speed of about ten miles an hour, preparatory to entering the south switch of the passing track to permit the passenger train to pass. Engineer Derwent is said to have made one application of the air brake to slow down his train, which consisted of 40 loaded cars. He was making the second application of air to permit Brakeman J. L. Donovan to open the switch when the passenger train bore down upon them and all members of the crew in the engine jumped to safety before the crash.

The passenger train was in charge of Conductor Curran of Freeport with Engineer Edwards at the throttle. John Ewing of Freeport was the fireman on the passenger train.

Mail Clerk Injured
L. C. Jackson of Clinton, Ill., one of the two mail clerks in the mail car, experienced a most miraculous escape from death. He was at work in the mail car with George King, also of Clinton. When the locomotives met the front end of the mail car was ripped open as if made of tin. Jackson was thrown forward from the center of the car, and recalls seeing the numbers on the end of the tender of the engine, which he struck and was rendered unconscious. His only injury consisted of a slight cut on his right foot, although he suffered from the shock of his experiences and was slightly bruised about the body. Mail Clerk King was also thrown some distance in the car but escaped injury.

W. G. Bent of Freeport, express messenger, who was in the combination express and baggage car emerged from the wreckage without a scratch. He was working sorting over express packages to be unloaded at Dixon when the crash came and was thrown some distance, but escaped injury.

The mail car, one end completely torn out, the twisted steel piled high in the air, rolled over on its side against the east embankment. A truck was dispatched from the Dixon postoffice to remove the mail which was brought to the local postoffice to be redispached.

Doctors Summoned
A motor bus operating between Freeport and Dixon loaded up passengers who were unhurt or only

1 cup chopped raw carrots
1 cup cooked peas
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 cup salad dressing.
Mix and chill ingredients. Serve.

Orange Pudding
1/2 cup fat
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon lemon extract.
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk or water
1 1/2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder.
Cream fat and sugar. Add other ingredients and beat 3 minutes. Pour into 2 layer cake pans fitted with waxed papers. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Add filling.

FILLING
1/2 cup sugar
4 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1 cup orange juice
1/2 teaspoon butter
Blend sugar, flour and salt. Add egg yolks and orange juice. Cook in a double boiler until thick and creamy. Stir frequently. Add butter. Mix well and cool. Use as a filling between the 2 layers. Cover with jelly frosting.

JELLY FROSTING
1 cup currant jelly
6 tablespoons confectioner's sugar
Beat jelly with a fork. Beat in sugar and continue 2 minutes. Frost top and sides of pudding. Cool.

When boiling or stewing meat, fowl or fish, allow it to cool with out a covering. It should then be stored in the ice box.

Mrs. Smith, Mendota, To Address Club

Mrs. Lee J. Smith of Mendota will address the Dixon Woman's Club audience Saturday, January 25th using as the subject of her lecture, "Mound Builders of Illinois." This talk is certain to be educational and interesting especially so to native Illinoisians.

A great deal of research work has been carried on for some time and interesting ancestral discoveries were made in Lewiston, Ill., just last year.

This program is certain to be well worthwhile and all members are urged to be on time as it depends on weather conditions the time at which Mrs. Smith will arrive and it may be necessary to postpone the business meeting until after the lecture. Members are asked to remember the Woman's Exchange which is being successfully carried on after each meeting of the club and to bring their foods and other articles at this time.

Guests are cordially invited upon payment of the small guest fee, at the Christian Church, 2:30.

WERE VISITORS AT THE ROWLAND HOME

Florida Jungle Grows Orchids For the North

Temperature Ideal for Flower (Special to the Christian Science Monitor.)

MIAMI, Fla.—Orchids grown near Miami in their natural surroundings, the dense growth of the jungle, are now being cut and shipped to northern cities, where they are bringing from $5 to $25 apiece retail, depending on their color and size. At Orchid Jungle, about 20 miles south of here, 2000 gorgeous blossoms are ready for market. This is the only place in the United States where orchids are grown out of doors on a large scale.

Hidden away on a hummock at the edge of the Everglades, the precious blooms are cultivated and guarded day and night by L. A. Pennell, an orchid enthusiast of long experience. After growing orchids in greenhouses in a northern state for some years, Mr. Pennell visited south Florida about 15 years ago and discovered that the atmosphere and temperature of the jungles found on the hummocks south of here were ideal for orchid growing and similar to their native habitat in South America. The dense growth of the tropical trees, shrubs and vines holds an even temperature practically like a green house. It remains nearly the same year round. The dense growths also protect the flowers from the wind.

Almost dark it seems in the jungle to one coming in from the brilliant sunshine of the open fields. There are signs of advertising to show the way to this secluded spot, far from the main highways. One follows a narrow path, climbing over logs and pushing aside vines and branches. Then the sunshine filtering through the deep foliage of the great trees lights up the thousands of blossoms, swinging in the gentle breeze.

The Cattlys predominate. They are the ever popular deep purple and lavender orchids seen most frequently in florists' windows. The orchid connoisseur finds the less gaudy blooms equally interesting. White like; delicate pink blossoms; brilliant, glossy yellow ones; and green and brown orchids all in an almost infinite variety of shapes and sizes are here, and all apparently hanging about almost as if nature had planted them here instead of its having required years of patient effort to bring them to this state of perfection.

This is the first year the orchids have been shipped north in any quantities. Miami and Palm Beach have heretofore taken the entire crop. They reach New York in perfect condition, being shipped in boxes lined with ice and each stem wrapped in wax paper. It is expected that orchid growing will become one of the big industries of Dade County in the not distant future.

Valentine Bridge Party Enjoyed

Miss Florence Wilson was hostess last evening at a charming Valentine bridge party at her home on North Galea avenue entertaining eight girl friends.

The favor for high score was awarded to Miss Alda Holdridge of Sterling; Mrs. George Bort, received the second favor and Miss Emma McCoy received the consolation favor.

Decorations for the happy event were in red, the Valentine motifs being artistically employed, red tulips accenting the note of spring.

Later Miss Wilson served a most delicious luncheon, completing a delightful evening for all.

Anderson-Redfield Wedding Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Anderson of this city, have returned from Chicago, where yesterday they attended the wedding of their elder son, Dorman Anderson of Chicago, and Miss Natalie Redfield of Wilmette.

The wedding was solemnized at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride in Wilmette and was a very quiet affair because of the recent death of Miss Redfield's father. The guests were members of the immediate families. Last evening a family dinner was enjoyed at Mallard's. Mr. Anderson, who is a former Dixon boy, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, is a brilliant young man, a graduate at law and is now in business in the city. His bride is an exceptionally charming young woman. The many friends of both wish them every happiness.

Anniversary Concert Monday Evening

The Christian church choir has had in preparation for some time an "Anniversary Concert," in celebration of the installation and dedication of the pipe organ, a year ago, which will be given next Monday evening. The organ, which was the first to be designed for public use by Hubert A. Howell of Dixon, youthful organ-builder, has been a constant joy to the church, and the occasion for many compliments from visitors. It has given very full satisfaction, and the two ladies' organizations of the church, the Ladies' Aid Society and the C. C. Circle, have been much gratified by the voluntary contributions that have come during the year, to assist them in the funding of the expense, which bids fair to be met completely within the present year.

Monday evening's program is presented under the auspices of the church chorus choir, with the assistance of Mrs. Morris Rosbrook and Deming Hintz from other churches of the city. The concert will have no admission price, but like the previous ones, so largely attended a year ago, a free-will offering will be received toward the remaining indebtedness on the instrument. The full program will appear in tomorrow's issue of the Telegraph.

Delightful Evening; Dinner-Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. Max Eichler entertained a group of friends last evening at their home, with a dinner and bridge, and all the guests enjoyed an exceptionally enjoyable time. During the evening it developed that Mrs. Eichler was celebrating her birthday and many were the good wishes showered on her by her friends for future happy birthdays.

A beautifully appointed dinner was served. Decorations were lovely yellow tulips and yellow tapers.

At bridge Mrs. Wallis Worthington was awarded the favor for high honors for the ladies and A. C. Gossman received the first favor for the gentlemen.

Meeting of Nachusa Unit, Home Bureau

The Nachusa Unit of the Lee County Home Bureau met with Mrs. George Emmert, with seventeen present.

As this was the first time that the Home Advisor, Mrs. Syverud, was present, it was a get-together and get-acquainted meeting. Mrs. Syverud also gave a talk on the next six months' work for the Unit which will be Home Management.

Committees were selected as follows—Membership—Mrs. Ruth Rosbrook, Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Welty; program committee—Mrs. Gossman, Mrs. Carson, Miss Emmert; Mrs. Edith Bothe, Mrs. Welty, Mrs. Emmert; transportation committee.

Mrs. Edith Bothe, Mrs. Mary Emmert.
Mrs. Ruth Rosbrook gave a whiling solo, which all enjoyed.
The meeting was most interesting and much enjoyed.

Benefit for Altar And Rosary Society

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Patrick's church held a well attended benefit card party yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gus Pettit on Third street. A neat sum was realized as there were guests for eight tables.

The hostesses included Mrs. Gus Pettit, Mrs. Jules Pettit, Mrs. R. D. Callahan, Mrs. Howard Wheeler. Those who were awarded favors were Mrs. Elmer Jones, first; Mrs. Wayne Smith, second; and Mrs. Chester Barriage, consolation. Refreshments were served, completing the happy afternoon.

Sinclair Lewis Seeks Reduction Paying Alimony

Reno, Nevada, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Sinclair Lewis, the author, is seeking a reduction from $1,000 to $200 a month in his alimony payments to Mrs. Grace Hegger Lewis, his first wife. They were divorced here a year ago, and Lewis later married Dorothy Thompson, writer and lecturer.

In an affidavit accompanying his motion to have the alimony reduced, Lewis says he expects his income to be $10,000 or less this year because he will devote nearly all his time to a novel heaving to do with labor. His former wife said she will resist the motion when it comes up for hearing here next Saturday morning.

MYSTIC WORKERS TO MEET FRIDAY EVENING

The Mystic Workers will hold their regular meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the former Masonic building downtown. The Prefect requests a large attendance. The drill team is requested to be present at the hall for practice at a quarter after seven for practice before the meeting.

SCRAMBLE SUPPER CLUB AT NEWCOMER'S

The Scramble Supper Club will be entertained Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Newcomer.

MRS. DAVIES GIVES LUNCHEON TODAY

Mrs. John Davies entertained today with a bridge luncheon, at 1 o'clock.

Girl's Hobbies Take Most of Home

Cleveland, Jan. 22.—If Charlotte Marie Elgis, 18, sometimes called the "butterfly girl" of Cleveland airport, doesn't watch out, her "hobbies" will soon crowd her out of house and home.

Miss Elgis, daughter of an airport confectioner, guards a $50,000 collection of 6,000 rare butterflies, tends several hundred canaries in a colony she established, raises mushrooms, and keeps on gathering cocoons, moths, flies, beetles and other insects. Miss Elgis' extensive hobbies overflow the attic, cellar and living rooms of her father's home here. "I'm too interested to stop now," she says, "even if we have to add another story to the house."

MEETING REBEKAH LODGE FRIDAY NIGHT

There will be a regular meeting of Rebekah lodge Friday evening. There will be a program given in honor of Thomas Wiley, founder of Odd Fellowship. A social hour and refreshments will follow.

ANNUAL LUNCHEON C. C. CIRCLE

The annual luncheon for the C. C. Circle of the Christian church will be held Friday at 1:15 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. L. McGinnis, 306 E. Seventh street.

PRETTY BAD START

New York—William H. Pollack, 33, started off his married life in a bad way. He had been back less than a week from a honeymoon trip to Florida when he was arrested for forging two notes for $3000 and $2000. He blamed his fall on the stock market crash.

DOG SHARES GRAVE

Denver—On her death bed, Mrs. Alto Birchmore, 85, asked that her dog, Mickey A. Pert, be chloroformed and buried in the same grave with her. She feared that the dog would not receive good care after she died. The dog was born in the French trenches during the World War.

ARCHITECT'S NIGHTMARE.

There is something very frightening about the pictures of the city of the future which our architects are painting for us these days.

The skyscraper seems to have gone to the architects' heads. Magnificent to look upon, they seem to be making it into a be-all and end-all of existence—and if their current guesses are right our children are going to be living in a dizzy sort of world a few decades hence.

New York realtors, in blind enthusiasm, are pushing up new buildings that tower over anything yet seen; and the architects are telling us that the buildings of the future will make even these seem small and insignificant.

We shall have buildings of 150 stories, they tell us, each of which will house some 20,000 people. The upper 40 or 50 floors will contain apartments—"homes," the boosters dare to call them. Under these, for a dozen or more floors, will be schools, colleges, recreation halls, movie theaters, indoor golf links, restaurants, churches, swimming pools and other modern conveniences. Then will come stores, for a dozen floors or more; and below these, all the way to the ground, offices.

Thus it will be possible for an American 50 years hence to pass his entire life in one building. He could be born, go through childhood, get his schooling, indulge in all kinds of recreation and perform all of his work without ever stepping outside of the super-skyscraper in which he came into existence. And if you have ever heard of anything more horrible than this, now is the time to speak up.

A city filled with skyscrapers of that kind would be a breath-taking spectacle, to be sure. But what sane man would want to live in it? And what man, living in it, could stay sane very long?

The skyscraper represents a triumph of science. The mere fact that we are able to erect such buildings speaks volumes for our technical skill. Putting up the Hanging Gardens of Babylon was an infant's job compared to putting up the Woolworth building.

But there is one thing more important than knowing how to build skyscrapers—and that is knowing when to build them. It is very doubtful that all of our great towers have increased human happiness in the least. Consider the unspeakable crowding of New Year's subways, Chicago's elevateds or any large city's surface cars during the rush hour, reflect that this crowding is born of the skyscraper, and ask yourself how many 150-story buildings you want in your city.

Our one hope is the probability that these architects are mistaken. The modern city needs, not to be concentrated still further, but to be spread out. We need better rapid transit facilities, not taller buildings.

CLOSING A SPEAKASY.

Here's a sidelight on prohibition that probably doesn't prove anything to speak of, either way, but that is rather interesting nevertheless.

Cleveland recently had a big garment-workers' strike. Some 5000 men and women were called out, and extra details of police were on duty patrolling the streets where the factories were located.

It happened that there was a certain speakasy near one of the big factories. And after two days of the strike the proprietor of this speakasy closed up. There were too many police around.

But don't rush to conclusions. He wasn't afraid of being pinched. You see, these extra details of police got to dropping in on him and drinking liquor—the weather was very raw—and of course he didn't charge them anything for what they drank. So his profits vanished and he closed, to reopen when the strike should be settled.

As we say, that probably doesn't mean a thing. But isn't it interesting?

A complaint in a Detroit newspaper says the motorists are running down the squirrels at Belle Isle. Maybe the squirrels are chasing them.

It used to be a problem to hang a picture straight—now it's O. K. even if it's upside down.

A Texas newspaper comments upon Senator Bingham: "To conduct unbecoming a senator he added conduct unbecoming a gentleman." In other words, from bad to worse.

"Rich, Kills Wife and Self," says a headline in a Chicago newspaper. At last something that wasn't blamed on the stock market.

Not enough attention is paid to educating the pedestrians, says a Detroit manufacturer. Perhaps not enough of them have bumps of knowledge.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tynmites thought the rubber man had pulled a trick, because he ran and left them when their tire bulged and wouldn't go around. They'd watched him pour some rubber in the tire when it still was thin and now it seemed he'd stopped their trip, wherever they were bound.

The whole bunch stood around, amazed. Apparently they all were dazed. Then, suddenly, wee Clowny said, what a dandy mess! We thought the rubber man a friend, but that came to a sudden end. If we are going anywhere, we'll have to walk, I guess.

"Oh, no!" said Scouty. "Not so quick. I will admit that was a trick, but I will not give up just yet. Please let me think a while. We'll never get far if we walk, so let's just drop that foolish talk. Why, we all would be all tired out before we walked a mile."

"Go right ahead and find a plan," said Coppy. "If you think you can."

Daily Health Talk

DON'T GIVE THE BABY T. B.

By J. J. GOLDSTEIN, M. D.,
New York, New York

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

We all carry germs of many diseases but do not succumb to them because our general health has built up an immunity. A baby does not have this immunity. It therefore follows that as tuberculosis infection is universal, it begins in very early infancy. Mother's milk, the most ideal food for babies, may contain the poisons of infection, if we allow a mother who has the germ in her sputum to nurse her baby and to kiss her infant on the lips, as mothers have done from time immemorial. That more infants do not die from this communicable disease acquired directly from the mother by contact of inhalation, or by promiscuous kissing by fond relatives, is attributed by some authorities to immunity products or antitoxins developed in this stricken mother's blood and indirectly in her milk.

Yet a far more common source of tuberculous infection is without doubt the present almost universal diet of our dearly prized babies—Cow's Milk.

Milk from a healthy mother, or wet nurse, is of course the ideal food for a healthy and surely for a sick infant; just as milk from a healthy cow is the ideal food for a calf. But there are mothers who have medically legitimate alibies for not nursing their infants, i.e., Malnutrition, Anemia, Tuberculosis, or inherited mental or physical taints and cow's milk, in one form or another must therefore be resorted to for their infants. This milk, however, is an excellent medium for germ growth and once germs are in the milk they multiply pretty rapidly much faster than any living thing I know of, and they also produce poisonous products which pasteurization does not remove. Heating the milk to 160 degrees Fahrenheit is a great help and should be practiced everywhere, if there is any doubt as to sanitation in production.

The most dangerous germs to humans that can grow in milk are tubercle and typhoid bacilli, and the germ causing septic sore throat, or streptococcus. The tubercle bacillus and the poisons it produces usually come from within the cow before the human hands can contaminate the milk.

It is therefore of utmost importance that milk must be obtained only from cows tuberculin tested under the most rigidly sanitary conditions and transported while being constantly iced from the source of supply to the refrigerator of the consumer. Milk must NOT be left on doorsteps or dumbwaiters or it will require germ growth and the poisons germs produce.

Proper care will ensure the millions of babies consuming this vital fluid a healthy thriving future.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

The bewitching charm of soft, flattering curves . . . the lure of a graceful, modern figure . . . don't spoil it by permitting your eyes to be bigger than your stomach. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. Over-indulgence is not commendable—when tempted to over-indulge, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that modern, enchantingly-rounded figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quick "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

SCOZZA BATTLE WITH SLATTERY GIVES PROMISE

Buffalo Fans Looking Forward to Light Heavy-weight Go

Buffalo, Jan. 23.—(UP)—The forthcoming Jimmy Slattery-Lou Scozza 15-round bout for the light heavy-weight championship of the world promises to become a bright spot in a somewhat drab schedule of winter sports.

With the match set for February 10, both principals are hard at work at their respective camps conditioning themselves, the lanky Slattery going through his paces at Speculator, N. Y., and Scozza working out at Delevan near here.

Interest in the bout has been heightened by the fact that both fighters are local products, and also by reports from Speculator that Slattery is training in earnest. Charley Murray, representing the Queensbury A. C., and Grant Quale of the Crescent club, jointly conducting the show, predict a $50,000 house, with prices scaled from $3 to $15.

Undoubtedly the match should be a hard-fought one, as there is admittedly no love between the two men. The fans know Slattery as a boxer surpassed in ring history by only a few, while Scozza's work is less familiar. The latter's last ring engagement of any importance was with George Courtney from whom he won on a foul in Detroit.

Slats Slight Favorite
Slattery has tasted the adulation of thousands, only to sink to the bottom of the heap by deviating from the straight and narrow. The youthful boxer, who Jack Dempsey once predicted would become the heavyweight champion of the universe, now insists he has given up the glare of the white lights and henceforth intends faithfully to carry out a program which he hopes will culminate in capturing not only the light heavyweight crown, but the heavyweight as well.

Scozza, a rugged fighter, carrying a punch and only rated a trifle below slats in sheer scientific ability, is looked on by many as the winner of the coming set. The Italian is well liked due to his remarkable endurance, many predicting he will be able to finish Slattery in the closing rounds.

Few wagers have been placed to the present time, most of the sportsmen waiting until further assurance is received from Slattery's camp that he is in the proverbial "pink." However, it seems quite likely that Slattery will enter the ring a 6 to 5 favorite.

Hunt Attorney In St. Louis Chinatown

St. Louis, Jan. 22.—(AP)—City detectives today searched the St. Louis Chinese district for clues to the whereabouts of Paul P. Thompson, 33, a lawyer of Jacksonville, Ill., whose whereabouts have been unknown since last Friday.

Relatives at Jacksonville asked for the investigation and stated that Thompson had not been heard from since last week when he left for St. Louis to serve as counsel for some Chinese of Jacksonville who were in litigation with some St. Louis Chinese.

Early investigation by detectives showed that Thompson registered at a hotel here Thursday and moved to another Friday. No information is to his subsequent movements has been obtained.

It has been estimated that fashionable women spend as high as $2500 a year on the care and dressing of their hair. The average woman, it is said, spends about $40 for such services.

The first day of the month will always be Sunday, and the last day will always be Saturday. There'll always be exactly four paydays in each month, and holidays like Easter and Thanksgiving will always fall on the same date.

Other holidays that have fixed dates will always fall on the same day of the week. And there will be one Friday the 13th in every month of the year.

These are the outstanding provisions of the new 13-month calendar, now being urged for world-wide adoption by an international committee.

The new calendar would contain 13 months of exactly four weeks each. One day would be left over, and would fit in at the end as a holiday.

The picture above shows what the first two months of this year would be like under the new calendar. The small figures in each square show the date under the present calendar. The year would have begun, for example, on the 29th of December, 1929.

Most holidays would get new dates under the new arrangements. Washington's birthday would be celebrated on Feb. 25; Lincoln's birthday on Feb. 15; St. Patrick's Day on March 20; Decoration Day on June 10; Columbus Day on Oct. 5. The Fourth of July and Christmas would be unchanged. Easter would always fall on April 8, and Thanksgiving Day would always be Nov. 26.

This is the calendar which is being urged throughout the world now. Its sponsors predict that it will be universally adopted within the next decade.

RAINS HAMPER CANAL SURVEY IN NICARAGUA

But Engineering Work Continues to Progress Despite Handicaps

—WASHINGTON—(UP)—Survey of the proposed Nicaraguan canal route is progressing despite such handicaps as rainfall at the rate of a seven and one-half inches a day.

Maj. Dan I. Sultan, commanding the survey, reported to the War Department he had disposed of his engineering troops so that work is being done on both the east and west ends of the proposed canal.

Nature and climate impose severe difficulties upon the party. Company "A" of the Engineer battalion moved overland by ox-train to reach the Pacific coast where camp has been established for survey of Brito Harbor and examination of the proposed route from the lake westward to the sea. Company "B" is in camp at Greytown on the Caribbean to survey that harbor.

Communication among the scattered units is maintained by four portable radio stations erected by the Signal Corps. Sultan said the fall of 15 inches of rain in two days had compelled temporary discontinuance of some work. Nicaraguans generally have shown enthusiasm for the canal project according to Sultan's report and other sources of information.

W. A. BAILEY, EDITOR OF THE KANSAS CITY (KANSAS) KANSAN, SAYS:

THAT more than ever before the whole world is akin.

In the matter of news, every newspaper which is subscribing to an established news service knows within a few minutes after an event happens in any part of the World the what, when, where and why of it, and, if it is of sufficient importance, the newspaper will have it before its readers in an extra in a very short time.

In one-twentieth of a second after Commander Byrd left the surface of Little America in the Floyd-Bennett plane for a flight around the south pole, the fact was known at the office of the New York Times, and in forty-five minutes the newsboys of New York were selling copies of the New York Times containing two pages of news depicting the immediate preparations for, and the actual takeoff.

No less spectacular is the story told in the advertising columns. Products therein mentioned and described have been assembled from all parts of the world, crated and packaged, and delivered to local merchants. Goods under the same labels can be obtained in your city as are obtained in New York City, London or Paris.

By means of radio, residents of your city may listen to the same music, visualize the same prize fights, feel the thrill of the same football games, or hear the speeches of the world's leaders along with residents of the coast states, gulf states, border states or any other points in America.

In matters of recreation—tennis courts, baseball diamonds, golf courses football fields—all have the same regulations as to size the country over, and exercise on them is obtained by the same methods.

TRULY THE WHOLE WORLD IS AKIN. TODAY, MORE THAN AT ANY PREVIOUS TIME, PEOPLE OF YOUR CITY CAN READ AT HOME, BUY AT HOME, LISTEN AT HOME AND PLAY AT HOME WITH FULL CONSCIOUSNESS THAT THEY ARE IN TUNE AND IN STEP WITH ALL PERSONS EVERYWHERE.

John D. Takes Ride In Plane On Ground

Ormond Beach, Fla., Jan. 22.—(UP)

John D. Rockefeller has taken his first airplane ride—a ride which consisted of being taxied across the landing field here several times—and liked it.

Rockefeller, here for the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Standard Oil Company, consented yesterday to enter the monoplane and take a ride provided the craft did not leave the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Noyes, pilot and co-pilot respectively, were the recipients of several of Rockefeller's shiny dimes as he stepped from the plane with a broad smile on his face.

It Is Folly To Stay Fat

The proof is everywhere. In every circle you can see that excess fat is disappearing fast. Modern science has found a major cause of excess fat in a weakened gland. In late years, physicians the world over have been fighting that cause. They do not rely on starvation.

This modern method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Each box contains the formula, as prepared by famous experts. People have used these tablets for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Now nearly all have friends who show the results in new beauty, health and vigor.

Go try Marmola. Test the right way to reduce. The results will amaze and delight you. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box.

ATTORNEY HAS SHIP'S PAPER WRITTEN IN '65

It Contains Account of Search for Assassin of Lincoln

Chilton, Wis.—(UP)—One of the first "newspapers" ever published aboard an ocean steamer is in the possession of Attorney George C. Hume, Chilton.

The paper, published as the "Daily Helvetian" was issued on the S. S. Helvetia on the second leg of the steamer's round trip from New York to England in 1865.

Written on legalcap paper in long-hand and by several contributors, it related the search made for Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Abraham Lincoln.

The first edition, dated April 28,

Near Catastrophe
"Wilkes Booth, the original of above portrait, is 26 years of age and a native of Maryland. He committed the crime which will brand his name with eternal infamy on the evening of the 14th of April, 1865. At last reports he had not been arrested although the United States government offers an immense reward for his apprehension."

Among the less serious accounts was one of "the escape of the entire passenger list from catastrophe."

"There was great danger on board yesterday when a passenger drew up the plug from the washstand basin, forgetful of the fact that he had previously recovered the tin can belonging underneath."

The floor of the stateroom was instantly flooded and the peril of the ship was rendered imminent when fortunately Mr. — with astounding presence of mind replaced the plug and, by his remarkable calmness and cool bravery, the terrible catastrophe which threatened was averted."

Other Interesting Items

Other items of interest to the passengers included: "Commercial—Markets continue quiet; breadstuffs in good demand; tobacco stands firm, especially Navy Plug. Fruit scarce—but not whisky."

When the boat neared its destination the stewards tried to avert danger of having liquor stocks on their hands by inserting the following notice:

"A bountiful supply of liquor and cigars at the bar with small inclination for same. An importation of salt fish might increase the inclination for consumption. The editor can conscientiously recommend Martell's Eau de Vie and the choice assortment of London and Dublin Porter and East India and bitter ales on hand."

Population Of U. S. Is 121,951,866

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The population of the United States 10:45 A. M. Wednesday was estimated by the Census Bureau at 121,951,866.

In the course of the immigration committee's hearing on the Johnson and Box bills to restrict western hemisphere immigration, Chairman Johnson found a need for exact figures on the country's present population. He dispatched a message to the Immigration Bureau and obtained this information.

"One birth every 13 seconds. One death every 23 seconds. One immigrant entering the country every 11 minutes. One immigrant leaving the country every five minutes."

The average increase in the country's population as based on the figures, was placed at one every second, with the excess of birth over deaths estimated at 800,000 annually, and the above total estimated.

KANSAS CITIAN IS COLLECTOR OF HANDCUFFS

M. A. Gill Lines Walls of Home With Celebrat- ed "Irons"

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 23.—(UP)—The market price on handcuffs is usually on the advance when M. A. Gill of this city is in the vicinity. He is the leading collector of "cuffs," thumb-cuffs, navy irons and manacles in the United States.

Hundreds of these adorn the walls of the home, making his collection the most valuable of its kind in the world.

Included in the unique display of torture instruments are 55 handcuffs, each of which has been locked about the wrists of a murderer. The oldest handcuff in the collection was made in 1620.

A pair of Palmer's navy irons, patented in 1876, which came out of the prison cell of the battleship Maine adorn one corner of the room. They were purchased by Gill at an auction at Brooklyn navy yard.

To Gill, the most interesting pair of handcuffs in the collection is that used to murder Sheriff Homer Teaff of Muskogee, Okla., on June 24, 1922. John Welch, a Negro prisoner in the custody of Teaff, killed the sheriff by beating him over the head with the "cuffs" and escaped.

Welch was freed from the irons by his wife, who chopped through the connecting chain with an ax and then opened the jaws of the handcuffs after attempting to file through one of them.

The Negro then buried the body of the sheriff and the pair of handcuffs in a swamp where they were found. Five hundred men trailed the killer more than two weeks before he was captured. Gill tried several months to get the handcuffs and was finally successful at the Kansas Peace Officers' convention held in Wichita, Kan., this fall.

Houdini "Cuffs"

Two pairs of handcuffs were obtained by Gill from Mrs. Beatrice Houdini, wife of the late Harry Houdini, the magician. One pair is the Little Hand Slave Iron used by Houdini in his exhibitions. The inventor of this handcuff died in a pair of his own make on board a ship while in temporary restraint. They were patented during the Civil War.

One of the most formidable looking pairs in the collection are the massive Challenge "cuffs" secured by Gill from Mrs. Houdini. The pair that were clamped about the wrists of Lieut. Charles Becker of the New York police department as he was led to the electric chair in Sing Sing penitentiary for the killing of Herman Rosenthal, hang now in the Gill collection.

Just this month an addition came to the collection from Ed Reeves, a border patrolman of El Paso, Tex. It was in the form of a pair of old Tower leg irons, manufactured by John Tower, that had been in use in a county jail in New Mexico more than 40 years.

Gill, himself an inventor of handcuffs and thumbcuffs, has had an interesting life of travel and adventure. Since 1923 he has been a special agent for the United States department of labor.

Although Canada possesses only about one-half of one per cent of the world's population, the Dominion produces about 9 per cent of the world's wheat, over 10 per cent of the world's oats, and 90 per cent of the world's nickel.

The 1928 death rate for Utah, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce was 962.1 per 100,000 population as compared with 907.5 in 1927.

Parole Board Said To Favor Dr. Cook

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 22.—(UP)—The Kansas City Journal-Post said in a copyrighted article today that the Federal Parole Board has "acted favorably" upon a parole for Dr. Frederick A. Cook, one time Arctic explorer serving a 14 year sentence at Leavenworth penitentiary on charges of misuse of the mails.

The newspaper said the board "had recommended to Attorney General Mitchell that Cook be paroled."

The three members of the board are Warden Thomas B. White; A. H. McCormick, Assistant Superintendent of Prisons from Washington; and Dr. C. A. Bennett, prison physician.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

RAILROAD LINES FROM NORTH TO SOUTH GROWING

Hudson Bay Soon To Be Connected by Trains With Salvador

BY G. B. WINSTEAD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK —(UP)—If seeing America from a railroad coach is your travel preference you will be able next summer to ride from Hudson Bay, Canada, to La Union, Salvador—just a little jaunt of some 5,000 miles or so.

At the present time your longest journey would be from The Pas, Manitoba, to La Union, but service soon will be extended north of Churchill and Hudson Bay.

The International Railways of Central America early this year opened a line connecting its two systems in Guatemala and Salvador, which extend the itinerary 800 miles southward. This new line was from Zacapa, Guatemala, to San Salvador, the capital of Salvador.

Prior to opening the new line, the International operated two systems; one running from Puerto Barrios on the East Coast to Ayutla on the Mexican border near the Pacific Ocean, and the other from Ahuachapán, Salvador to La Union on the Gulf of Fonseca.

Hence next summer the itinerary of such a trip would be from Hudson Bay to Chicago via Winnipeg, a distance of approximately 1,750 miles; thence to Laredo, Texas, via American rail lines approximately 1,250 miles; through Mexico on the National Railways of Mexico lines, about 1,200 miles to the Guatemalan border and 800 miles more to La Union.

At the Mexico-Guatemala border it is necessary to cross a river in canoes, since the bridge was burned during a recent revolution. Negotiations have been instituted, however, for rebuilding the bridge.

The Zacapa-San Salvador link was built for the express purpose of bringing the cities on the west coast of Salvador nearer to the Mississippi Valley, according to President Fred Lavis of the International Railways of Central America.

Before the link was built it was necessary to ship the products for export from a rich agricultural, grazing and mining country down the Pacific Coast to the Panama Canal, thence by rail to the East coast where they were loaded on boats for shipment to the United States.

The new rail link puts Guatemala and San Salvador, the capital, within four days of New Orleans.

Ask Citizens To Buy Tax Warrants

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(UP)—The wheels of Chicago's governmental machinery slowed down almost to a stop today and creaked from lack of tax money lubrication.

A three day search for millions by a "rescue committee" of bankers headed by Silas Strawn had come to an end with no millions found.

Unless some means of producing cash for city, county and school payrolls is found, complete financial collapse of local government is a matter of days, Strawn warned in a report. Bankers, who already hold $185,000,000 in tax anticipation warrants against 1933 and 1934 tax-s, have refused to buy more until the old ones are paid, Strawn reported, pointing out that bank credits are not inexhaustible and that merchants and professional men must be able to obtain money to carry on their businesses.

Efforts to induce citizens to buy tax warrants which they could use to pay off their own levies so far have failed, Strawn reported. The drive on citizens continued as the only hope of staving off immediate financial disaster.

Board Reports On Big Plane's Crash

Los Angeles, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A local weather condition of "unpredicted and unforeseen character" was blamed today by a technical board of inquiry of the Transcontinental Air Transport Maddux Line for the crash of its big passenger plane south of here Sunday with a loss of 16 lives.

Findings of the board were made public after two days of investigation and constituted the first formal report on various investigations into the aerial disaster. The coroner's inquest to officially fix responsibility for the accident will be held tomorrow. Aviation experts and witnesses have been summoned to give testimony.

The company's board of inquiry, headed by D. W. Thompson, former Navy "Sea Hawk" and now vice president in charge of T. A. T.—Maddux operations, concluded that all the motors of the plane were functioning when the big ship struck a hillside while flying through stormy weather and caught fire after the crash, cremating all but three of the bodies.

There is no general law or constitution provision that compels members of Congress to attend the sessions, but the constitutions gives each house the authority to compel the attendance of its own members.

The two largest national forests in the United States are the Tongass and the Chugach in Alaska, with net areas of 166,546,242 and 4,709,583 acres respectively.

Childbirth a happy event

NORWAY ASKED TO AID RETURN OF EXPEDITION

Admiral Byrd's Party Is Held In Antarctic By Ice Pack

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—With ice blocking passage of Rear Admiral Byrd's flagship to his base at Little America, an appeal has been made through the State Department for the aid of Norwegian whalers to help save the Byrd expedition from spending another year on the Antarctic ice barrier.

The New York Times, which, with associated newspapers, is sponsoring the expedition, said today that an announcement that the flagship City of New York had reached Little America is contradicted by Captain H. H. Railey, manager of the expedition and Admiral Byrd's personal representative in New York. The announcement originated with an amateur radio operator in Washington, Ohio.

"On the contrary," Captain Railey said, "the City of New York has reached only the edge of the ice pack in the Ross Sea, a very different matter, and owing to the unprecedented condition of the ice pack, the New York and the Eleanor Bolling may not succeed in negotiating the southward passage to Admiral Byrd's base—at least not without the aid of larger vessels.

Critical Time.
"This is a critical time. The Eleanor Bolling will join the City of New York on the northern edge of the ice pack about January 26. If the ice is sufficiently open by that time, both vessels will proceed south to Little America. But there is at present no indication that the ice pack will be sufficiently open.

"We are therefore asking the State Department to solicit the cooperation of the Norwegian government in making available to Admiral Byrd the aid of the powerful whaling vessels now fishing north of the ice pack. Five such vessels are now within striking distance of Little America.

"To avoid spending another year on the ice barrier the expedition must depart from its base at Little America not later than February 20. If aid is necessary to ensure its departure we must supply that aid. The Ross Sea began to freeze last year on February 22."

The City of New York is estimated to lie about 525 miles north of the base at Little America.

The Eleanor Bolling is the second ship of the Byrd Expedition which set out for the Antarctic in the autumn of 1928.

Milwaukee —(UP)—Time was when a sound "whaling" was doled out to the darning one who brought a deck of "Old Mads, Bunko, Euchre or Finch" to school in the pocket of his "jeans."

How times have changed! Every Monday and Tuesday night at the Shorewood high school, one of Milwaukee's suburban educational centers, 200 men and women gathered for instruction in how to play cards.

Where the "three R's" have reigned undisputed for ages, the voice of the teacher speaks in terms of contract bridge, and its attendant phraseology. A lovely lady, garbed in the height of fashion and flashing an engaging smile upon her pupils, replaces what popular fancy placed at the head of the schoolroom—the sinister old maid school teacher. Men and women, perhaps some whose childish laughter once echoed throughout the same school rooms in years past, laugh and joke amid the lessons, unafraid that "teachur" may use the switch.

Boys Still Tease Girls

In this schoolroom, the casual visitor observes attention, though a man is seen boyfully to tease the pretty woman in the seat ahead of him. Only a few years ago, one mused, this same man loved to pull those blond curls of the girl who sat in the same seat in front of him. A chart, gay with the colored symbols of the bridge cards, hangs on the wall. A pencil serves the teacher as a pointer. Anyone may ask her a question at any time and receive a cheerful tolerant answer. Tolerant because many of the questions, coming from the lips of the city's busiest executives, seem awkward and simple.

"Now, we had this lesson—pardon me—this hand, last week. 'I wish to see how many of you remember what it was bid,' the young teacher began a lesson the other night. 'How much does the hand count? The king, the ace, the queen is worth only a quarter of a trick because it is only once guarded. Let us go on. There is one, two three and one-half, four and one-quarter, five, six. The hand counts six. What does south say?'"

The class follows the teacher's lesson, droning each count after her and as she totals the count, bursts forth as a fourth grade class in addition with the answer.

Play After Study

When the lecture is finished some one suggests:

"Let's play a hand."

Immediately there is hub-bub and laughter. Business men, lawyers, doctors, school teachers, and their wives and sweethearts shift chairs. Decks are dealt and the theory just taught is put into practice.

The course has brought twice as many women as men, according to Mrs. John G. Osborne, teacher. Limousines, town cars and the small individual automobile are drawn up before the school. Chauffeurs of the city's rich sometimes wait two hours while their employers go to school.

The school's course of bridge is sponsored by the Shorewood opportunity club and is in the opinion of H. M. Genskow, head of the school the only one of its kind to be given as a vocational study.

"We are giving it here," Genskow said, "in the theory that education should include the training of people for the things they like to do."

SHARES ONCE WITHOUT VALUE NOW TO YIELD

British Stockholders to Realize Profits After 40 Years

LONDON (UP)—Some 25,000 holders of what they regarded as worthless shares soon may divide a sum approaching $2,000,000.

The shares are those of the United Realisation Company which arose out of the Liberator Building Society which crashed, with other Jabez Balfour concerns, in 1892.

For nearly 41 years these shares have lain in dusty drawers and family chests, looked upon as worth little more than paper. Now the sale of the Hotel Cecil in the Strand, London, to Shell Mex, the gasoline company, has altered matters. Children and grandchildren of those who had a stake in the old Liberator company, are searching out and handling reverently the very shares which they once regarded as so much sentimental rubbish.

When the Liberator crashed the shareholders discovered that there was nothing left for them after the assets to which depositors and creditors were entitled had been satisfied. Their holdings were entirely wiped out.

The United Realisation company was formed in 1895 to take over and administer the assets belonging to depositors and creditors. It started with a share capital of $3,000,000, and a debenture debt of $10,000,000. Thus debenture debt has been gradually cleared off, step by step, as the various properties have been sold.

This year the company found itself free of debt, but with only one large remaining asset, consisting of a half-share in the ordinary capital of the Hotel Cecil company, standing in the balance sheet at $1,000,000. Now that the Cecil has been sold these 200,000 shares will be taken off its hands.

It is not known yet what the actual figure involved in the sale may be.

BORAH'S STRONG DRINK CONSISTS SOLELY OF MILK

But Senate's Dry Leader
Is Interested Only
In Law

BY PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 23.—(UP)—The strongest thing Senator Borah of Idaho ever drank is milk.

The dominating dry personality at the Capitol and the leader in the present prohibition controversy is a graduate of the old school of the west where hefty cowboys planked their silver dollars on Idaho bars and called for the house.

Despite the surroundings of his early legal career, Borah in his boyhood placed coffee and tea alongside liquor on his list of banned beverages and never broke his personal pledge to himself.

Strangely enough, in view of his strong personal habits, he never has belonged to a temperance or dry organization. He never has been very strongly interested in preventing other people from drinking and he never has made a "prohibition speech."

Borah's interest in prohibition has been strictly constitutional. Although he supported the Eighteenth Amendment, he voted against the Volstead act on the ground that certain features of it would lead to invasion of homes and breakdown of other sections of the Constitution.

It is only in the last two years, by a peculiar force of circumstance, that he has come to be looked upon as one of the outstanding dry spokesmen. He has never manifested much interest in the moral side of the question. It was only when he felt law enforcement was breaking down and that disrespect for the Constitution was going far beyond the prohibition issue that he started making the speeches which have established him in the unofficial leadership of the dries.

It was his sensational charge against the enforcement personnel during the Christmas holidays which led to the recent reports of the Law Enforcement Commission and the revival of prohibition enforcement as a major issue.

Borah's tactics, like those of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant Attorney General, differ from those of other dries. The others have been accustomed to issue statements that prohibition conditions are getting better all the time, that there is little drinking and that respect for the law is growing. Both Borah and Mrs. Willebrandt took the opposite view and frankly stated conditions as they believed them to be.

After stirring up the fight, Borah carefully remained aloof. But he will be a central figure in the debate when the reform bills proposed by the Law Enforcement Commission are brought before the Senate for discussion. It is understood Borah is preparing to combat some of the drastic measures proposed and without his support their fate will be in doubt.

He Coughed For Two Years SWORE OFF

After coughing for two years almost continuously a man of considerable means got thin and tired and worn out, made his will, and was ready to quite the big game of life.

A friend spoke to him about Bronchiline Emulsion and now life to him is very sweet indeed.

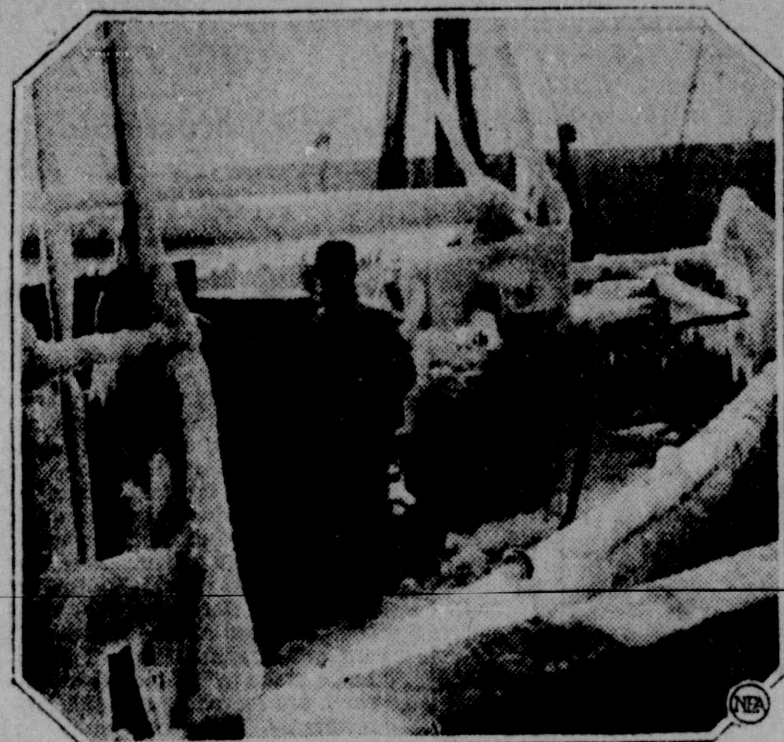

That's the kind of cough that is put out of business with amazing speed when the cougher is wise to Bronchiline Emulsion.

Tough old coughs—persistent coughs—coughs that hang on and rob people of their sleep—those are the kind of coughs Bronchiline likes to tackle.

Many times such coughs linger after the Grippe or a heavy cold, and if you have one or know of anyone who has one keep Bronchiline Emulsion in mind.

It isn't just a cheap sweet cough syrup—it's the best cough remedy—and the best is never cheap. Campbell's White Cross Drug Store and dealers everywhere can supply you—Adv.

Today's Cold Weather Report

The next time you're seated in a warmly heated dining room and the fish course comes, consider the life of a fisherman—and shiver! This is the way a fishing boat looked when it docked in Boston the other day, loaded with ice, fish and frigid crew, after a mid-winter expedition off the New England coast.

Sunday from Chicago where he is employed by the Petroleum Products Co.

Chris Ulrich was here from near Franklin Grove Saturday and shelled out Paul Halbmaier's corn crop.

Walter Cook was a business caller here from Mendota Tuesday.

Amour Lauer was here from Sublette Tuesday doing some plumbing work about town.

Fred Krahenbuhl left for Aurora the fore part of the week where he will seek employment over the balance of the winter months.

Jacob Henkle and William Untz drove to Amboy on business Monday. Once Lipps left Saturday for the cons. Sister Mary Henry and Miss Florvent at St. Francis, Wisconsin, after spending two weeks here at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lipps.

Cyril Gehant and Miss Thais Meyer were here from Aurora Sunday and visited at the F. W. Meyer home.

The dance at the school hall Tuesday evening was well attended and everyone had a fine time.

Jack Malach was here from near Sublette Saturday calling upon old friends and former neighbors.

The card party at the school hall Sunday evening was well attended, there having been twenty-two tables of players. Many drove from the vicinity of Mendota and Peterstown. Mrs. Paul Halbmaier and Mrs. Edward Henry won the first and second prizes in euchre for the ladies, while Charles Clopine and Sherman Holden won the men's prizes. In the 500 games, Alice Dolan won first, Mrs. H. A. Bernardin, second, Henri Plumsin, first and Frank Schmidt, second. Mrs. F. W. Meyer, Mrs. W. A. Halbmaier and Mrs. Frank Herman were the sponsors.

Raymond Danekas escaped rather fortunate in an auto accident east of DeKalb last Saturday night. Buss turned the manipulating of the machine over to the other driver and had been sleeping very nicely when he was awakened very suddenly as the truck tore off the abutment of a bridge. A moment later they were going down a twenty-foot embankment, this shattered the windshield cutting Ray about the face. He was taken to the hospital where seven stitches were necessary to close up one wound and his face is black from bruises. At any rate the trip cured Ray and he will not take up stock truck driving to Chicago as a trade, as he had anticipated.

Word comes from Belvidere that Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sonderroth are now nicely located in their new home and like city life first rate.

George R. Hicks was here together with Joseph Graf Monday calling upon business friends.

tions with Truckenbrod and Vickrey for the purchase of their garage and equipment here. Merle's brother, Wayne Pine, will move from Morris, Ill., and will do all of the repair work for the new owner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Derr, Mrs. Carrie Johnson and Miss Minnie Danekas motored to Compton last Thursday evening where they were guests at a get-together meeting at the home of Charles Risley. The other telephone employees from Paw Paw and Compton were present and the evening was spent in playing bridge followed by a dainty luncheon served by Mr. Risley himself.

Many of our people drove to the Peter Reinhart farm Monday where they attended the closing out sale of Frank Kellen.

Louis Reck was here from Mendota Monday calling upon business friends.

Representatives from the Wa-Na-Gah Comedy company were here Tuesday billing the town for their show in the near future.

Miss Bernice and Cornelia Conbear, together with their father, Erl Conbear were here from Lee Center Saturday calling upon friends and acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Amel Henry were here from Dixon Saturday and spent the day at the home of his brother and family. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Henry.

Joseph Lipps is here from Evansville, Indiana, and is spending a few weeks at the home of his brother, Arthur Jeanblanc and Arthur Zisbarth were morning passengers for Aurora Saturday where they visited at the home of Josie Ziebarth over Sunday.

The modest Gehant estate farm was sold at public auction last Thursday afternoon. William Auchstetter and Julius Delhotol purchased the place jointly and will take possession on March first.

The I. N. U. Company have a force of men here this week testing meters and otherwise getting their system in first class condition. Due to the extreme cold weather, the street lights burned for three days and nights continuously.

DIETICIAN ADDS WORDS OF PRAISE

"Since Taking Kavatore I Feel as Though I Were Twenty Years Younger," He Says.

Mr. Rechten's experience with Kavatore is of unusual interest due to the fact that he is a retired Dietician, in which capacity he naturally spent years of thought and study on the subject of foods and their effect on the human system. "I have been troubled for years by indigestion, kidney trouble and neuritis," said Mr. Rechten, R. F. D. No. 9, Jackson, Mich.

PAUL RECHTEN.

"I had hardly no appetite and when I did eat anything it seemed as though it soured and fermented in my stomach and came up in my throat like vinegar. Gas bloated me and caused intense pain. Then I had a constantly dull ache across the small of my back and sharp pains shot across my kidneys every time I stooped over. I was also troubled by pains right across my shoulders that caused me much agony. Of course this condition of my system made me very nervous and restless. I used everything and anything that my friends told me about—but nothing gave me any noticeable relief until I started to use Kavatore. I have used six bottles now and I feel as though I were 20 years younger. I eat and sleep like a new man. The pains across my back and shoulders have disappeared and I hope this statement is the means of Kavatore helping other folks as it did me."

The Kavatore Man is at the The Ford Hopkins Co. where he is daily meeting the public and personally explaining the merits of this great preparation. The famous Kavatore figure (an ingenious human torso showing every organ of the body) is used in this demonstration and everyone is cordially invited to see and study this figure, an experience which will be interesting and instructive.

Field Work Through State At Standstill

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—(UP)—Field work is at a standstill as the result of a general snow last Friday which was followed by three days of below zero weather, according to the crop and weather report for the week ending yesterday, issued by the United States Weather Bureau here today. Possible damage to peach trees by the low temperatures also is hinted in the report.

Many stations over the state recorded the lowest temperatures in twelve years, the report said. Most of the dirt roads are in rough shape with a covering of snow three to thirteen inches thick.

Three government stations recorded from 16 to 25 below zero during the week.

With the Cagers

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—Second place in the west conference basketball scramble will be tossed up for grabs tonight at Bloomington, Ind., where Wisconsin and Indiana will meet.

Indiana started the week in a tie with Purdue for first place, but returned from an invasion of Michigan with a 46 to 26 defeat. The Hoosiers, by winning, would go into sole possession of second place, but a defeat will send them down into a tie with Michigan and Northwestern for fifth position.

The contest promises to provide Wisconsin's toughest test since it lost to Northwestern in the first game of the season. The battle will bring together Bud Foster of the Badgers, leading scorer of the league, and Branch McCracken, of Indiana, who is close up in point collecting.

After Saturday night's card, which includes a little civil warfare at Chicago between Northwestern and Chicago, and Minnesota's journey to Ohio State, examinations will cut down activity. Three games are scheduled for next week, Michigan meeting Minnesota and Chicago, and Ohio State playing its engagement at Minnesota.

SPORT BRIEFS

New York, Jan. 23—(UP)—Babe Ruth and Waite Hoyt, New York Yankees' holdouts, have been joined by Jimmy Reese, rookie infielder from Oakland. Reese has returned from his contract unsigned.

A month from today the world champion Philadelphia Athletics will begin training at Fort Myers, Fla.

Two major league stars are recovering from visits to hospitals, outfielder Lloyd Waner of the Pirates having been operated on for appendicitis and first baseman Lew Fonseca of Cleveland, American League batting champion, having contracted a case of scarlet fever.

Washington will wear numbers on the backs of their uniforms the coming season. The New York Yankees were the first major league team to wear numbers.

The National League will hold its annual spring meeting at New York February 4. The American League umpires will meet at Chicago February 12.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 23—(UP)—Frozen faces received by team members in recent games have necessitated postponement of the scheduled hockey game between Wisconsin and Marquette tomorrow. Don McKee-

Awful Suffering from Stomach Trouble and Kidney Pains Are Ended by Konjola.

MRS. NORA BRUN.

"Konjola has given me better health than I have had in a long time," said Mrs. Nora Brun, 612 West First Street, Galesburg. "Pains around my heart from gas that formed on my stomach were so intense that I often gasped for breath. My kidneys were weak and in a terribly disordered condition. I had to rise five or six times at night, due to bladder weakness. Finally rheumatism developed in my arms and limbs. My work keeps me on my feet most of the day and up to a few weeks ago I thought I would have to give up my work, the pains were so intense. I could never find a medicine to do me the least bit of good, and I was feeling worse all the time."

"I gave Konjola a fair trial, and now I am entirely free of stomach trouble. My kidneys are stronger and the night risings have stopped. The aches and pains of rheumatism have stopped entirely."

John and Gil Krueger, co-captains of the Wisconsin team are the incapacitated players.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 23—(UP)—Sidney Well, president of the Cincinnati Reds, has denied his team intends to dispose of its Peoria Three Eye League franchise. There have been rumors the Reds did not intend to retain the Peoria franchise.

Chicago, Jan. 23—(UP)—Extreme interest in high school basketball in Illinois has been manifest by the fact that 756 teams, a record entry, are seeking the Illinois title.

Montreal, Jan. 23—(AP)—With the second round only partly completed, four United States contenders have been eliminated from the Canadian indoor tennis championship.

In the second round, C. W. Leslie of Montreal scored a straight set triumph over Clifford Marsh, Buffalo youngster.

William Aydelotte of New York, former United States indoor title holder, failed to appear for his match with Brian Doherty of Toronto and was defaulted. Emmet Pare of Dayton, Ohio, fell in the second round before the superior skill of Fritz Meurer, Bethlehem, Pa.

J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., the defending champion, eliminated Edward Burns of New York.

George Lott of Chicago is scheduled to start play today, opposing M. Margesson of Toronto.

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, today was on his way to Florida for a two weeks session with sunshine. The aged Sox owner departed with Secretary Harry Grabner by automobile, planning to return to Chicago February 5.

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—Charles (Punch) Knoll, manager of Three Eye and Michigan-Ontario League baseball clubs, has signed to manage the Ft. Wayne, Ind., team of the Central League, next season.

New York, Jan. 23—(AP)—Unless his business interferes, Cyril Tolley, British amateur golf champion, expects to compete in both the United States amateur and open championships this year. Tolley's business now keeps him in the United States a large part of the year.

"I am looking forward to the open," he said yesterday, "for as yet I have never competed in one of your national open championships."

He expects to return to England April 30 to take part in the Walker Cup matches, if he is chosen for the British team, and in the British championships, but will return later in the summer.

New York, Jan. 23—(UP)—The investigation of the so-called "Brooklyn College games" remained unsettled today after an unsatisfactory meeting of the registration committee of the Metropolitan association of the A. A. U.

All matters under investigation were side-stepped by the committee on the plea that a quorum could not be obtained. Two members left the meeting before it was over last night. It was brought out that there is no such institution as "Brooklyn College," nor has there been since 1919.

The official complaint was that newspapers had been given misinformation concerning the appearance of Jack Elder, Notre Dame football star and sprinter, in the games staged last Saturday night.

Chicago—Jackie Fields, welter-weight champion, is an 8-5 favorite to defeat young Vince Dundee, brother of Joe Dundee, the man from whom Fields won the title, when the two meet here tomorrow night.

Fields recently won a decision over Dundee here but there were many who believed Vince might have been given a draw.

SCOTT HAS REAL CHANCE TO TAKE
HEAVIES' TITLE

Seems Best Of All Boxers
From Britain Since
Gunner Moie

BY FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Jan. 23—(UP)—There are some who maintain that Phil Scott, who arrived today aboard the S. S. Homeric, is merely another bad joke perpetrated upon this country by British boxing circles, while others think the elongated English heavyweight a dumb nuisance.

But the fact remains this London fire laddie, sometimes called "Painting Phil," whose chief claim to fame is the readiness with which he claims foul, has the best chance of succeeding to the heavyweight championship enjoyed by any Englishman since Gunner Moie fought Noah Brusso back in 1907.

Whether or not you think Scott is a great fighter, believe in horoscopes or play cards with strangers on trains, the fact is Philip is going up against Jack Sharkey on Feb. 27 with the championship of the world only a short step away for the winner of that bout.

Philip and his manager, James J. Johnston, the "boy bandit," spread a lot of flap-doodle upon Scott's arrival today about a new and secret punch with which the Englishman would flatten Sharkey and proceed on to the title, humming softly the while "Brittania Rules the Waves."

"Back home," says Philip, "he left the folks in quite a lather of excitement over the prospect."

What is somewhat more likely, to say the least, is that Philip will drop like a coconut from one of those Miami palms about the third round, with or without the customary formality of squawking "foul!" I have it on the word of Johnny Buckley, who never misleads the newspaper boys, that Sharkey's plan is to hit Philip so hard and so suddenly that by the time the fire laddie is able to emit a protest the spectators will be half way to the kennel club dog track to get a bet down on he seventh race.

This would seem a simple system, provided someone in the Bostonian's stable had the forethought to sit firmly upon Jimmy Johnston during

PNEUMONIA
Call a physician. Then begin "emergency" treatment with the proceedings. For vocal attainments, coupled with quick and crafty calculating, Jimmy yields not the palm—nor the tonsil—to any man.
VICKS VAPORUB

There is always a possibility that Scott will catch Sharkey in one of the latter's careless moods, or the indifferent mood, or the what's-it-all-about mood—this incalculable Lithuanian has so many of them—and outbox Jack for 15 rounds.

In that case, Scott would be matched with Maxie Schmeling for the championship and then see whether Jack Dempsey was in earnest when he said he'd return to the ring if the title left the country. The think isn't beyond the bounds of possibility, and after a year of idleness Schmeling probably couldn't beat Scott.

So there's your British heavyweight champion of the world. It's done with mirrors.

Four Major Schools
Seeking New Coaches

New York, Jan. 23—(UP)—Four major colleges are seeking head football coaches for 1931. They are the University of Minnesota, Penn State, University of Mississippi, and Holy Cross.

Dr. Clarence W. Spears resigned at Minnesota to accept the position of head coach at the University of Oregon after Capt. John J. McEwen had been ousted.

Jess Hawley, former Dartmouth coach, has been mentioned in connection with the Minnesota position but it is not likely that he will leave his business in Chicago, the reason he resigned at Dartmouth.

Homer Hazel, former all-America star at Rutgers, recently resigned at Mississippi. Ray Morrison, southern Methodist coach, has been tendered the job, but he probably will not accept.

The elevation of Hugo Bezdek to the position of professor of physical education at Penn State leaves the Nittany Lions without a football coach. Bezdek will have a hand in picking his successor.

Cleo A. O'Donnell has relinquished his duties as head football coach at Holy Cross, but will remain as athletic director.

AGUA CALIENTE
COURSE PROVES
TO BE "TOUGH"

None Of Nation's Golf Stars Able To Beat Par in Match

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Agua Caliente, Lower California, Jan. 23—(AP)—The stubborn subtle Agua Caliente course, which through 54 holes of play held its par barrier of 71 strokes unbroken, today stretched out in menacing fashion before 58 prospectors for the world's largest golf treasure as they faced the final round of the $25,000 classic.

With the $10,000 first place prize almost within their grasp, two pace-makers, Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., and Al Espinosa, Chicago, clung to a meager one-stroke advantage as they turned to the final eighteen holes, already eleven strokes over perfect figures. Their score for the three days of play stood at 224.

The nearest of these were Al Watrous, Detroit; Charles Guest, Los Angeles, and Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, Cal., just a stroke behind. Two strokes away was Johnny Farrell while Mortie Dutra, Tacoma, Wash. MacDonald Smith, Long Island, N. Y., and Gene Sarazen, New York, held close to the front with 225.

Thirty-one players were clustered within ten strokes of the lead; all of them potential money winners, with twenty cash prizes offered.

Walter Hagen, British open champion, appeared to be out of the running with a 233 as his effort.

WOMAN FATALITY BURNED

Benton, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—An inquest was held here this morning into the death of Mrs. George Savko, 35, the mother of four children, who lost her life last night as a result of burns received while she was rendering aid in her home in the south part of Benton.

Neighbors saw Mrs. Savko rush from her home with her clothing blazing and smothered the flames and rushed her to a hospital where she died about 10 o'clock last night.

DEMOCRATS ARE DIVIDED OVER
PICKING SLATE

Ham Lewis As Candidate For U. S. Senator Meets Opposition

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—Illinois Democratic leaders were divided today over a candidate for United States Senator.

James Hamilton Lewis, former Senator, had been put forward by Cook county leaders, but yesterday, downstate members of the State Central Committee voiced opposition to Lewis and demanded that Bruce Campbell, East St. Louis attorney, be the party's choice in the November election.

To select a "harmony candidate" and avoid a primary split, the Donovan of Joliet, State Chairman, appointed a committee of Cook county and downstate leaders to smooth out the political ruffles.

After several hours conference, the committee reported last night that it was unable to reach a decision and would continue its work today.

Cook county Democrats favor Lewis for the prestige he would give the city and county tickets, it was pointed out, and agreed to let downstate committee members pick the rest of the slate if Lewis is selected as the Senatorial nominee.

A woman was mentioned as one of the state candidates—Mrs. Eva Batters of Springfield, for Superintendent of Public Instruction. She was formerly Superintendent of Schools in Menard county.

Despite the friction, it was expected that a slate would be picked some time today.

HOME SOLD FOR FINE
Marion, Ill., Jan. 22—(UP)—To pay a fine of $5,000 imposed in federal court, the home of former State's Attorney Arlie O. Boswell, now serving a term in prison for conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act, was sold yesterday by Deputy United States Marshall John Smith.

END BUNION
PAIN FOREVER

No Need to Suffer Another Day Those Agonizing Torturing Pains.

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflamed, swollen toe joints and get them down to normal and that is to apply Moone's emerald Oil night and morning, and people who suffer from such enlargements would be wise to reduce them before they reach a more or less chronic stage.

Ask any first-class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time, and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. By applying night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunnies are reduced to normal. Schildberg's Pharmacy.—Adv.

INNOCENT MAN SHOT BY BORDER CUSTOMS PATROL

Fatally Wounded As He Landed At Dock In Detroit

Detroit, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Accosted by a customs border patrol inspector as he was disembarking from a row-boat at the foot of Maple Street in Wyandotte shortly before midnight, Walter Grunt, 27, was shot by the officer and probably fatally wounded, he told police.

Grunt was taken to the Wyandotte General Hospital. Wyandotte police said they had been unable to learn the name of the federal officer who did the shooting but officers of the border patrol said that A. Inspector had been disarmed and was being held for questioning by Col. Heinrich A. Pickert, Collector of Customs.

Grunt told police that he and a companion, whose name has not been learned, were rowing along the river front looking for a missing motorboat. He said that neither he nor his companion was armed and that there was no liquor in the boat. They decided to pull up at the Maple Street dock, he said, but as he was stepping out of the boat a uniformed man stepped out and shot him without warning.

Companion Deserted. With a bullet wound in his stomach, Grunt fell back into the boat which his companion immediately headed out into the current. Three miles from the scene the boat went ashore and Grunt's companion deserted him.

Grunt lay in the boat for nearly an hour before his groans attracted the attention of Charles Snell, a night watchman, who called police.

Shortly before Grunt was discovered two customs border patrol officers walked into the Wyandotte police station and told the sergeant in charge that they had fired at a man thought to be a rum runner and believed they had wounded him. The officers refused to give their names.

Wyandotte police said today that Grunt has never been known by them as having been connected with the down river rum-running industry.

Rash Romance

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing house, marries ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive of the department in which she works. Knight is a widower with a daughter, TONY, 18, in Paris, and a son, JUNIOR, 16, at school.

A blissful honeymoon in Bermuda is interrupted by a cablegram that Tony is on her way to America. Judith and Arthur sail to meet her. When Knight brings his daughter to their Long Island home the girl ignores her step-mother. Later she tells Judith she must leave the house. Knight overhearing, forces Tony to apologize.

The girl spends much of her time with MICKEY MORTIMER, an amusement-seeker whom she met in Paris. Junior arrives home for the holidays and treats Judith with cold, cool politeness. Christmas proves to be a dismal day with both children away from home and all Knight's eager preparations wasted.

Judith is uncomfortable until the boy returns to school. A letter comes from ALICE HELENE, who had chaperoned Tony in Europe. Telling Knight of the girl's affair with Mortimer, Tony easily persuades her father that her aunt has misjudged her.

ANDY CRAIG, a young man Knight has helped through college, calls on Tony. Craig is to be employed in the legal department of the publishing house. He has loved Tony for years—rather hopelessly. Knight agrees to invite Craig to dinner, but before that evening arrives Judith meets him unexpectedly on the street.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIX

JUDITH KNIGHT hurried away from her encounter with Andy Craig with the uneasy knowledge that she was late and would have to make excuses. It had annoyed her to be caught like a truant school girl.

At least Judith told herself that was what annoyed her. How foolish she must have looked! Mrs. Arthur Knight, the wife of the eminent publisher, scurrying down a back street in short skirt and thick jersey, carrying skates. There probably was a smudge on her nose. A pretty picture to meet one of her husband's employees!

Sobered, and with the sparkling enthusiasm which came from exercise dimmed, Judith went up the steps and into the house.

"Oh, Judith?" "Yes—yes, Arthur!"

She heard him coming toward the hall from his study.

"Why, my dear, where've you been? I looked all over the place for you."

"Out in the street—playing with the children."

"But, Judith! Isn't this just a little—unconventional?" "I know, Arthur, but I was so lonely—"

Arthur Knight looked down on his young wife for a moment, studying the depths of her blue eyes. Then he raised her head, holding her chin in his two hands, and kissed her lips tenderly.

"I don't want you to be lonely, Judith," he said. "We must do something about that."

Instantly she was regretful. "Oh, it was a silly thing to do!" she told him. "I didn't mean to be so late. But, anyhow, I shouldn't have gone skating on the children's pond. And there are lots and lots of other things for me to amuse myself. Gracious—why I've got everything in the world!"

When they were at the table a little later Arthur brought up the subject of redecorating the house.

"I thought you were going to fix this place up a bit, Judith," he reminded her. "Habit! you better be getting that job started? Why don't you go in town tomorrow and look over some truck to decide what you want?"

Judith knew he was thinking of the redecorating of the house.

Merz, sought in connection with the fatal shooting of Lee Conley, 29, a bill collector, surrendered to the Sheriff's office yesterday. He is said to have told authorities that the shot which killed Conley was discharged accidentally while he was scuffling with Conley and a companion.

An earlier police version had been that Merz shot Conley when the latter slapped his wife.

The shooting occurred last week but police had been unable to locate either Merz or his wife until he surrendered yesterday.

IT'S WRONG TO KISS London—The British Board of Film Censors have decreed that it's wrong for an English movie actor to kiss a Chinese movie actress. In a film entitled "The Road to Dishonor," Anna May Wong is featured. Supporting her is John Longden. In one scene they are supposed to kiss, but the censors have cut out that scene. The kiss is included in the same film being shown in Germany.

that redecorating their home would give her something to occupy the time. Ever since Arthur Knight's son had made the scene over the broken vase the girl had put change in the house's furnishings out of her mind.

"It may take quite a lot of money," she said hesitantly.

"Well, I guess I can manage that all right. We want the place fixed up in first-class shape—don't we, Tony?"

She set eagerly to work on the task next day. The exterior of the house was colonial and she admired early American furniture and fabrics. She wanted to blend old-time pieces with modern things and give them an air of comfort.

To achieve this required many conferences with professional decorators.

The old walnut furniture which stood in Judith's own room was to be stored in safe, dry quarters over the garage. The room was to be done over completely with tones of blue, ivory and raspberry predominating.

Tony announced she was satisfied with her French boudoir and wanted no changes. Arthur Junior's bedroom was to remain exactly the same. The task of doing the house over, begun in January, was not completed until early March.

Andy Craig's first invitation to dinner at the Knight home was followed by another and yet another. Arthur sang the young man's praises continually and Judith stated quite openly that she enjoyed his company. Tony was the one who could not be counted upon.

There were Saturdays when Tony, in high good humor, set off in her own buff-colored roadster with Andy Craig beside her for hours on the golf course of Knight's exclusive club. There were evenings when she remained at home, sweetly affable, listening to radio music and conversations between Andy, her father and Judith. There were other times when the young man telephoned or stopped at the house when Tony mocked him, turned her back on him, and scoffed at his ideas of entertainment.

Tony were a simple yellow dinner dress. She had bound a ribbon of the same shade about her hair, adding to the demure effect. When Andy was ushered into the living room Tony returned to the divan where she had been sitting with her father and fondly placed an arm about Arthur Knight's shoulders.

Judith came gaily into the room. "All ready!" she exclaimed. "And dressed up in my best to arouse my

In spite of this abuse Craig continued to be found frequently at the Knight home. It was not at all unusual for him to drop in about eight o'clock of an evening to chat with Tony or, if she were absent, to stay for three-handed bridge with Arthur and Judith.

THEN came the night in early February when Andy broached the subject of the dog show. It was the classic event of its kind for the year. Would Tony like to go?

"A dog show!" wailed Tony. "What on earth makes you think I'd like to see a thousand howling hounds all cooped up in little pens?"

"Oh, but they're such beauties!" put in Judith. "I should think you'd enjoy it immensely, Tony. I would."

"You can go see them then," said Tony. "I won't."

"Why not, Mrs. Knight?" Craig asked. "I've got the tickets here. Really would you like to go?"

Judith hesitated and Arthur Knight answered for her.

"Of course she'll go. That's a splendid idea. Judith, it will be good for you to spend an evening in town. Tony'll stay with me here, won't you, Pet?"

Tony glanced at her father from under lowered brows.

"I'd rather," she said testily, "than hang around a dirty old dog show!"

She seemed entirely to have recovered from her pettish humor, however, when Andy Craig called the following evening. Tony welcomed Andy at the door. She was playing the role of the dutiful daughter and playing it perfectly.

Tony were a simple yellow dinner dress. She had bound a ribbon of the same shade about her hair, adding to the demure effect. When Andy was ushered into the living room Tony returned to the divan where she had been sitting with her father and fondly placed an arm about Arthur Knight's shoulders.

Judith came gaily into the room. "All ready!" she exclaimed. "And dressed up in my best to arouse my husband's jealousy! Do you think you dare accompany me, young man?"

Judith wore her gleaming broad tail wrap and a small black lace toque which was a new acquisition. Craig rose smiling.

"I would defy even such dangers, Madam."

The goodbys were said quickly. Judith assured her husband that she and Andy would be home before he finished the reading which he turned to almost every evening. Then she and the young man went into the hall and out of the house.

THE sound of the car disappearing down the drive came to Knight and his daughter.

"Father," said Tony softly, snuggling closer and resting her head on his shoulder, "it's awfully nice to have an evening alone with you—again!"

"Why, Tony! As though you couldn't spend every evening with me if you

Lasky And Sister Get Warning Notes

Hollywood, Jan. 22.—(UP)—The homes of Jesse Lasky, famous film director, and his sister, Mrs. Blanche Lasky Turnbull, are being guarded by armed officers because of death threats against them.

Notes delivered to Lasky and his sister, who is the wife of an executive at the Famous Players-Lasky Studios, read:

"You are going to be killed—shot—beheaded."

The threats were made two weeks ago and detectives were instructed to guard the residences constantly.

Start Work On New Pontiac Cell House

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22.—(UP)—Work on a new cell house at Chester state prison will be started tomorrow, it was announced by Rodney F. Brandon, Director of the State Department of Public Welfare here today.

C. H. Hammond, State Architect; Colonel Frank Whipp, Superintendent of Prisons, and several others left here today for Chester to supervise the launching of the building program, the labor of which will be contributed by convicts.

The new cell house will be the third to be erected by the state this year. Two others are in the course of construction at Pontiac and Joliet, respectively. The ones at the last two places are being built by outside labor.

Each cellhouse when finished will contain 500 cells, capable of housing 1,000 prisoners. The cost of the building the three of them will be $1,500,000.

Brandon also has instructed Hammond to arrange for remodeling the old hospital building at Chester so that the crowded quarters of the new Hospital for Criminal Insane may be relieved by the transfer of some of its patients to the old hospital.

Mansfield's Trial May Be Continued

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22.—(UP)—Probability that the case of Morris Mansfield and his wife Jesse of Peoria charged with the murder of Clarence Hoopes through poison liquor, alleged to have been distributed here today for Chester to supervise the launching of the building program, the labor of which will be contributed by convicts.

State's Attorney H. E. Fullenwider said that State's Attorney H. E. Pratt of Peoria County had asked that the Mansfield case be set as the last one on the criminal docket for this term. Fullenwider stated that he believed attorneys for the Mansfields would ask for a continuance and that it would be granted.

Mansfield and his wife were tried in Peoria twice but the jury disagreed both times and change of venue was obtained.

SSS has meant a new day to many a person

A CLEAR SKIN comes from within

Lack of appetite, loss of strength, skin eruptions, that "tired feeling" and other human ills may be due to a lack of red-cells in your blood.

"My despair was so great I could have cried. The good cheer and merry happiness of others only mocked at my condition. I had begun to wonder why life could be so cruel. No appetite. No strength. Skin blemishes always embarrassed me. Aches and pains coursed through my body. I wanted to restore my health and live. What was I to do? ... happily the day came and I found the right road to Health when a friend recommended S.S.S."

You may be one of the thousands with a low blood count—to this may be attributed "run-down" systems, skin troubles, and even more serious ailments. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

SSS
Makes You Feel Like Yourself Again

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. © S.S.S. Co.
